Learning and achieving together

11th November 2022

Dear Parents and Carers,

What a wet and windy week it has been but nice to end with some sun on the gate this morning.

Anti-Bullying Week

Our anti-bullying ambassadors met with Mr Riordan this week and updated our Children's Anti-Bullying Policy and school Anti-Bullying Charter. These will be updated on the school website and shared with children as activities next week in anti-bullying week.

Other activities:

- Monday 14th November – Odd Socks Day and anti-bullying week assembly.
- Thursday 17th November – KS2 assembly and anti-bullying workshops.
- Friday 18th November – Dress colourfully or in your favourite colours to express yourself - £1 suggested donation to Children in Need.

Our homework next week will be to write a recipe/set of instructions/rules to be a great friend.

Remembrance

Thanks to Mrs Gent for playing the Last Post today to mark the end of our minute of silence. Thank you to our house captains for supporting the poppy sales at the start of the school day and to everyone who has donated to the RBL poppy appeal. Good luck to everyone taking part in the Remembrance Parade on Sunday.

Parents' Evenings

We are really looking forward to hosting parents over the next 2 weeks and sharing all of your children's books. During these meetings we will be sharing last year's attendance and this year's attendance so far, for your information. You will also be updated throughout the year, allowing you to track how much learning your child is missing.

Time slots will be limited to 10 minutes, so please arrive on time.

Parking

Thanks to everyone who is parking responsibly and safely. Let's keep our high standards up, be mindful of pedestrian access to pavements, good relationships with our neighbours and remembering to model great relationships between each other if we are challenged to move our car for safety reasons.

Have a wonderful weekend.

Kind regards,

Richard Riordan
